Networking for security research services iProcureNet Network+Community Pathways towards joint procurement

Join us via our 6 Topical Groups iProcureNet, that is a lively community of experts from practitioners' organisations, industry and academia, policy makers or engaged citizens – involved or interested in the procurement of security innovation. The community can connect, be informed, engage and collaborate with other stakeholders through the iProcureNet Online Platform (iPOP), to achieve peer-learning, knowledge building, better connections across Europe and to pave the way towards joint procurement and innovation procurement.
